Drive against child labour carried out

■ STATE TIMES NEWS
POONCH: In an effort to combat child labour and provide immediate rescue and rehabilitation for children in street situations (CISS), a comprehensive drive was successfully conducted at the Poonch Bus Stand area. The operation, led by the Child Welfare Committee (CWC) Chairperson, Rohit Khajuria, and supported by various officials from CHILDLINE and Labour Department inspector Ravinder Singh also included in this drive, aimed to rescue children from vulnerable situations and ensure their safety and welfare. The initiative was carried out smoothly, with the team focusing on identifying children engaged in labour and those in distressing street situations. Several children were rescued and provided with immediate care and shelter, ensuring they were removed from exploitative environments. The authorities underscored the need for strict adherence to laws prohibiting child labour, emphasizing that employing children for financial gain is not only unethical but also illegal under Indian law. Rohit Khajuria, CWC Chairperson, stressed the importance of such drives, stating, "Our priority is to safeguard the future of these children. They deserve education, care, and the opportunity to grow in a safe environment, free from exploitation. We urge the public to report instances of child labour and cooperate with authorities to eliminate this practice." The local community is requested to follow the rules and regulations regarding child labour and support ongoing efforts to rehabilitate children rescued from such conditions. The authorities have assured that continuous monitoring and further rescue operations will be carried out across the district. The CWC and its partner agencies remain committed to ensuring that no child is left behind, and efforts will continue to protect the rights and dignity of every child in Poonch.
