

NATIONAL PRESS DAY

National Press Day is symbolic of a free and responsible press in India. This was the day on which the Press Council of India started functioning as a moral watchdog to ensure that not only did the press maintain the high standards expected from this powerful medium but also that it was not fettered by the influence or threats of any extraneous factors. Though there are several Press or Media Councils world over, the Press Council of India is a unique entity in as much as this is the only body to exercise an authority even over the instruments of the State in its duty to safeguard the independence of the press. The Press Council of India celebrated National Press Day on theme "The Media's Role in Nation Building" at SCOPE convention centre in New Delhi today. The Union Minister of Information & Broadcasting, Youth Affairs and Sports, Anurag Singh Thakur was the chief guest at the event and released the "Norms of Journalistic Conduct, 2022". Celebrating Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav marking 75th year of India's independence, the dignitaries deliberated on the topic 'the Role of Media in Nation Building' to appreciate, analyse and ascertain the plausible ways that may pave the way towards preserving the standards of Indian media which is celebrated as the fourth pillar of the Democracy. Delivering inaugural address, the Union Minister of Information & Broadcasting, Youth Affairs and Sports, Anurag Singh Thakur complimented Swapan Dasgupta for his erudite views, expressed eloquently, on the theme of today's deliberations - "The Media's Role in Nation Building". The Union Minister stated "This is a solemn occasion to pay our humble tribute to stalwarts who made the Press a powerful voice and a worthy Fourth Pillar of our democracy." He further added "The intimate involvement of towering leaders of our struggle for independence with the Press propelled them to ensure Freedom of the Press was enshrined through constitutional provisions. The birth of the Press Council of India came much later, but the impulse was the same, to ensure democracy is safeguarded and strengthened. The Union Minister further said, "Regrettably, within a decade of the Press Council of India coming into existence as a Lighthouse for Press Freedom, it was abolished during the Emergency along with the suspension of Fundamental Rights. It is a matter of pride for me that the council was revived through a fresh Act of Parliament steered by none other than L K Advani as Minister for Information & Broadcasting. As a nation we have not looked back since then, though there have been setbacks by way of unacceptable restrictions like those imposed by 66A of the IT Act. It was justifiably struck down by the Supreme Court. Over the last 75 years, as democracy has flourished in our great nation, so has media." Thakur expressed happiness that Prime Minister Narendra Modi led Government has made the information landscape more robust by streamlining governance norms through simplified and transparent processes & wants to see media play a greater and more constructive role in building a New India as our nation's stature rises globally. The Union Minister said, "As with all things that expand with speed, the expansion of media in India merits a cautionary note. Much of the media governance structure is self-regulatory. But self-regulatory does not mean licence to err and err intentionally. That would erode media credibility. Bias and prejudice must be abjured. It is for media to reflect and self-introspect on how to immunise itself from the virus of Infodemic which continues to inflict malicious disinformation on societies across geographies. A related twin-concern is that of paid news and fake news. Similarly, clickbait journalism, made fashionable by social media, contributes nothing to media credibility; it contributes even less to nation-building. Media must not allow the space for responsible, fair and balanced journalism be occupied by others."

Remembering valourous saga of Maangarh Dham

■ ARJUN RAM MEGHWAL

The Nation is taking giant leaps multi-dimensionally, striding to realise the fullest potential of proud citizens. The Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav is an apt moment to introspect ourselves and bring out the masses' consciousness for sealing new heights for the Nation. India's freedom struggle has numerous sagas to reflect the awakened consciousness of freedom fighters that widen the scope of activities of all stakeholders in the nationalistic movement. The unsung heroes have sacrificed their lives for the prestigious realm of the motherland. The recently celebrated 2nd 'Janjatiya Gaurav Divas' on November 15, i.e., birth anniversary of Birsu Munda recollected the valour & heroic deeds of tribal freedom fighters. Today November 17, reminds us about sacrifice of courageous tribal martyrs under the leadership of Govind Guru, fighting bravely against British rulers. Govind Guru, born in a nomadic family in the Dungarpur-Banswara region of Rajasthan, imbibed the teaching of Swami Dayanand Saraswati and rose to mobilise the Bhil tribes through their socio-religious upliftment. An accurate propagator of Indian Tradition & ideals, At25 years old in 1883, he founded the 'Samp Sabha' to promote Unity & harmony among the tribals. These socioeconomic measures were simultaneous to the British raj's organised loot from India and their increasing insensitivity to the concerns of locals & indigenous people. From 1903 onwards, Maangarh Hills became a famous place for the annual congregation in the form of a fair for Bhills & other tribes of the region. The demand for self-rule in India gathered enormous currency in the 1st decade of the twentieth century. Divide & Rule Policy, the resultant Bengal partition & wealth draining mechanism, had busted the moral foundation of the British regime. Govind Guru had also laid down demand to reduce the revenue collection rate from tribals in the famine-affected circumstances and to stop their encroachment on religious freedom & cultural aspect of India. As part of the freedom struggle, the Bhill community and other tribals engaged in a long standoff with the British. In 1913, on the full moon day of 17th November, Mangarh hill witnessed a mass gathering of more than 1.5 lakh Bhills to pay their allegiance to the gुरू, to fulfill their spiritual desire & to look for a way out to end British hegemony. The illegitimate revenue collection was a clear-cut exhibition of their oppressive attitude & injustice measures. The 'Bhuretia Nahi Manu Re' (I will not accept tyrannical rule of white people, i.e. British) song has become a mouthpiece for tribal people. Thus, Govind Guru's call for taking on injustice laid the foundation for Civil Disobedience Movement against British rule. Sensing the congregation of such a large scale, the British deputed seven companies to surround the entire Maangarh hill and tried to suppress the tribal agitative measures with a fear of bullets & cannons. The awakened consciousness of the masses, augmented by spirituality, seems nowhere close to accepting the British adherence to evacuate the hill area. Their confidence and spirit for protecting the motherland overpowered the bullet's fear. The insensitive British ordered the mass shooting, and in this inhuman act, more than 1500 tribal freedom fighters laid down their lives this day. British moral legitimacy continuously kept eroding through the Jallianwalla Bagh massacre after six years of Maangarh hill incident and other inhuman approaches & measures to break the social & economic fabric of India. The sacrifices of these unsung heroes of the freedom struggle have upscale the morals of nationalistic fraternity. It has provided a lens to view independence as a legitimate & rightful necessity. This spirit has groomed everyone in toto for duty-fully playing their active role in owning a free India. After 75 years of Independence, Prime Minister Narendra Modi has given a clarion call for Amrit Kaal's Panch Pranwith the Goal of Developed India, removing traces of a colonial mindset, taking pride in our roots, Unity, and inculcating a sense of duty. The indelible role of tribals' from freedom struggle to nation-building, is an inspirational story. Tribal culture, harmony & sustainability with nature, environment-friendly lifestyle and zeal to protect nature are worth emulating, and lesson for the elite class and developed countries discussing ways & mean to reduce carbon footprints. The recently held 'Maangarh Dham Ki Gaurav Gatha' event on November 1 at Maangrah hill witnessed presence of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Chief Ministers of Rajasthan, Madhya Pradesh & Gujarat, and, more importantly, the decedents of tribal freedom fighters who have assembled in 1913 on the same hill. Now, Maangarh Dham will be developed with the cooperation of State government of Rajasthan, Gujarat, Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra, as a national memorial showcasing tribal legacy and their rich cultural heritage. Its development as a National tribal destination will become a significant milestone in recognising the tribal contribution in Nation Building. Additionally, the Government is already setting up tribal museums in ten states i.e., Arunachal Pradesh, Manipur, Mizoram, MP, Chattisgarh, Jharkhand, Gujarat, Andhra Pradesh, Goa & Kerala, to recognise the contribution of tribal people to society and increase awareness about their sacrifices in the freedom struggle. In India's growth trajectory, leaving behind a tribal legacy will always turn out as a glass half-full. Now with the initiatives taken by the Modi government, the tribals are marching with matched shoulders in the mainstream development agenda of the Government. The Nation feels elated to have Dropdi Murmu, the 1st tribal leader, as Republic's President. The Union Council of Ministers is also jewelled with eight tribal ministers. The pro-poor welfare measure, people-centric policies and governance approach to achieving full saturation by extending benefits to intended beneficiaries have facilitated their ease of living. The building of Eklavya Modal residential School, dedicated scholarship scheme for students, Adivasi University, focused emphasis on curbing sickle cell anemia, Mission Indra Dhanush, development through Tribal research institute, removing bamboo from the definition of a tree, Ayushman Bharat, PM Aawas Yojna among other are helping to bloom the potential of tribal masses. Strengthening SC & ST (Prevention of Atrocity) Act through amendments has made effective deterrence to atrocities against them. The idea of Social Justice is getting new meaning under visionary leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi. Today we pay our homage to the Martyrs of Maangarh by remembering the supreme sacrifice of unsung freedom fighters. Let's align our values with the morals of freedom fighters to reveal altogether different perspectives to building a New India, a global leader emerging as a pragmatic trouble-shooter on contemporary international challenges. Let's scratch our past, carry forward the indomitable legacy and learn from cultural values to earn a shining future. It's time to mindfully churn and act concerned about building a developed India.
