Poem — Jammu region –indeed a dreamscape

Bounded by siwaliks grandeur, Jammu's beauty gleams,
Snow-capped crests and valleys, a realm of dreams.
Rivers dance with joy, under azure skies so wide,
Maa kali temple Bawe divinity , in every heart reside.

In Samba's embrace, nature's art unfurls,
Golden fields sway, kissed by sun's delicate swirls.
Rivers whisper secrets, through landscapes so fair,
Parmandal and Mansar's beauty , a treasure rare.

Through Kathua's slopes and plains, a story unfolds,
Lush meadows and Ranjit sagar, a beauty that never grows old.
Whispers of ancient tales in every breeze that sighs,
Bani basholi charm enchants all beneath its boundless skies.

In Udhampur's embrace, where syncline glances the sky,
Nature's masterpiece unfolds, breathtakingly high.
Misty valleys and forests, a symphony of green,
Panchari hills and Basantgarh beauty, a heaven so serene.

In Doda's realm of wonder, where dreams take flight,
Majestic landscapes unfolds a breathtaking sight.
Whispers of rivers and mountains, a symphony of awe,
Bhaderwah's beauty enchants all, in nature's grand applause.

In Kishtwar's hills, sapphire hues ignite the skies,

Nature's gem, where beauty soars, and spirits rise.
Where Paddar's sanctity, devotion finds its way,
Machail's holy shrine, where hearts and souls do sway.

In Ramban's heart, Jammu and Kashmir's soul does dwell,
Majestic pir panjal and valleys, where ancient stories swell
Chenab and it's tributaries weave tales, as they gently meander,
Pogal Paristan's raw beauty, where soul find solace and wander.

In Poonch, where borders merge, a beauty so profound,
Majestic landscapes unfold, on this sacred ground.
Hills and valleys echo tales, of valor and serene,
LOC border beauty, a sight to behold, a valor scene.

In Rajouri's royal grace, where history finds its throne,
Land of kings and legends, where stories are sown.
Majestic forts and valleys, an emblem of rich delight,
Dhanidhar's beauty shines, in every day and night.

In Reasi's sacred lap, divinity and beauty entwine,
Ancient temples and landscapes, a realm so divine.
Mountains stand as sentinels, guarding stories untold,
Holy Katra's beauty, an ensign of blessings, unfolds.
A land so divine, undoubtedly beyond any compare.

Criminology

Although Forensic science and criminology both approach issues of crime and criminal behavior from a scientific viewpoint, the two disciplines are quite different. Criminology and forensic science differ in scope and application. Forensic science applies the tools and methods of the natural sciences, especially biology and chemistry, to issues of a legal nature. They collect evidence at crime scenes and analyze the materials in laboratories. Forensic science is thus an applied natural science. Criminology, in contrast, is a specialized social science that evolved from sociology. Criminology uses sociological theories and methods to study criminal behavior and how societies respond to crime.

Criminology is the scientific study of social crimes, criminals and criminal behavior, crime regulations and crime prevention methodology. The field of study known as criminology involves the studying of crime as a phenomenon on an individual as well as at a social level. Approaching from a socio-scientific point of view, Criminology involves the study of various forms of crime, the reasons working behind an incidence of crime, and its consequences.

In other words, it examines society's response to crime and prevention of crime. It is the scientific investigation of crime through analysis of evidence. Criminology includes the examination of evidence, hereditary and psychological causes of crime, various modes of investigation and conviction and the efficiencies of differing styles of punishment, rehabilitation and corrections.

Criminology involves studying all these aspects associated with crime in general. Criminology is the study of factors of criminality. In other sense, it is evaluating the circumstances that provoked to do the crime and preventing/regulating future chances to do such crime. Criminology being an interdisciplinary subject, it derives its theory from the fields of sociology, psychology and law.

Causes of crime and methods of preventing crime are the two most important aspects of the study of criminology. Other areas of interest in this field of study are - Crime Statistics, Criminal Behavior, Penology, Evaluation of criminal justice agencies, Sociology of Law, Criminal careers and desistance.
