World is a creation of illusion: Madhuparamhans

STATE TIMES NEWS
SAMBHA: On the occasion of Kartik Pournima in Ranjidi, Jammu, the Sadguru of Sahib Bandagi, Shri Madhuparamhans Ji Maharaj, while delighting the congregation with the nectar of his discourses, said that this world is a creation of illusion. In it, man forgets everything. Whatever is visible in front of him, seems to be the truth.

Sahib Ji said that I had warned earlier, but people take my words lightly. I had first talked about global warming. Scientists talked about it later. I had said one more thing that a time will come when a man will be afraid of a girl. Look, it has come. I had said that Indian culture is going towards the West. You see, boys and girls are roaming around. Children are ignoring their parents. I am saying one more thing, you write it down. After 10 years, 50 percent of girls will not get married. What I am saying has just started. 10-15 percent of girls are not getting married. The problem of employment has become very big. It is increasing. The youth do not want to get married. They are going abroad.

All this is the creation of the time. Man has been so entangled that forget about God, he is not even aware of himself.

Sahib is saying that whom should I explain, everyone is entangled in the business of earning a living. Everything is Indra's web. Not just one or two people are entangled, everyone is entangled. Everyone is lost in his own self. But man is not thinking. He is not trying to know his soul. Because the brain will not accept. Every pore of the body is filled with poison. All the senses run towards their respective objects. The system is such that one feels hungry every day. One has to work for this. The whole mess is illusory. He is so helpless. Like a person living in jail is helpless. Whenever you make him stand, he will stand. Whenever you tell him to work, he will work. In this way an invisible power is making everyone dance. Everyone is trapped in its mess.

UIET, Kathua Campus (JU) organises enriching field visit to Megha Engineering Infrastructure Ltd

STATE TIMES NEWS

KATHUA: The Department of Civil Engineering, UIET, Kathua Campus (JU) organized an enriching educational field visit to Megha Engineering Infrastructure Ltd (MEIL), Chadwal. The students from the B.Tech 3rd, 5th, and 7th semesters participated in this visit. This hands-on learning experience aimed to provide students with practical exposure to modern construction techniques and real-world civil engineering practices. During the visit, students had the opportunity to observe the ongoing construction work on the prestigious Delhi-Amritsar-Katra Expressway. They were introduced to innovative construction methodologies and techniques that play a pivotal role in large-scale infrastructure projects.

During the visit, the professionals at MEIL provided students with an in-depth overview of the company's infrastructure, operations, and ongoing projects and also conducted an interactive Q&A session. The students were enabled to connect theoretical knowledge to on-ground realities. This industrial visit also served as a great insightful experience for students as they learned about teamwork, project timelines, and resource management.

The visit was enriched by interactions and discussions with Er. Ranjith Kumar, Er. Sanjeev Langeh (Deputy Managers at MEIL Pvt. Ltd) and Er. Eminenti Kiran Babu, Er. Shubam (Senior Engineers at MEIL Pvt. Ltd). They shared their extensive knowledge and insights with the students, emphasizing the significance of adopting cutting-edge technologies and efficient project management strategies in civil engineering. They also discussed the challenges faced in the field and the innovative solutions adopted to overcome them, inspiring students to think critically and creatively about their future roles in the industry.

Prof. Arvind Jasrotia, Rector, Kathua Campus (JU), highlighted the importance of such field visits in bridging the gap between theoretical learning and practical application. He added that such initiatives are aimed to provide students with practical exposure to advanced construction practices and their applications in large-scale infrastructure projects. He further stressed that practical exposure is an integral part of engineering education and by witnessing advanced construction technologies firsthand, students not only broaden their technical knowledge but also develop a deeper understanding of the skills required in the field. He encouraged students to actively engage in these opportunities, emphasizing the critical role civil engineers play in nation-building and societal development.

Dr. Rockey Gupta, I/c Principal, UIET, expressed gratitude to MEIL Pvt. Ltd. for facilitating the visit and providing an interactive platform for the students. He reiterated the value of learning from real-world experiences, urging students to harness such practical knowledge to enhance their technical skills and career prospects. He further added that educational visits allow students to contextualize their classroom learning in real-time situations, understand industry challenges, and gain insights into innovations and best practices that shape the future of civil engineering.

Er. Sandeep Raj, Er. Sushant Gagal, Er. Pallvi Verma, Er. Vishavjeet Singh, and Dr. Vivudh Gupta, faculty of Civil Engineering, UIET accompanied the students during the visit.

Army's Volleyball Coaching Program: significant step towards women empowerment in Pir Panjal region

STATE TIMES NEWS
JAMMU: Girls of Rajouri and Poonch trained by Indian Army Team proved their mettle on sports field and made their way to Jammu and Kashmir UT Volleyball teams.

In a notable effort to empower women in the remote and underdeveloped South of Pir Panjal region, the Indian Army has launched a comprehensive volleyball coaching program for girls.

This initiative marks a significant stride in promoting sports, building self-esteem and fostering leadership among young girls in this area.

This year the volleyball coaching program commenced on August 29, 2024 with participation of 30 enthusiastic and talented girls of this remote area. Indian Army devised a well-structured curriculum led by experienced coaches from J&K sports authorities and Physiotherapist who trained and guided each player. Training sessions were planned covering fundamental volleyball skills, game strategies, and physical fitness. Among 30 girls, 19 girls initially were selected to participate in the Volleyball Tournament and selection trials representing their Zone at District Level in three different age categories as U-19, U-17 and U-14 years.

Subsequently 15 girls from these three categories represented their District in Jammu Division level trails and eight of them were selected to represent Jammu Division at State (UT) level.

The success story which started with the participation of 30 girls in the coaching camp has finally resulted in selection of Seven girls to represent J&K UT at National level volleyball tournaments. Out of these seven girls, three will represent J&K in U-19 tournament, one girl in U-17 and three girls in U-14 category.

The program has also been instrumental in shifting societal attitudes towards women and sports in the region. The Indian Army's volleyball coaching program stands as a testament to the power of sports as a tool for social change and women's empowerment. By investing in the development of young girls in the Pir Panjal region, the army is not only enhancing their athletic abilities but also equipping them with skills that will serve them throughout their lives. This initiative reflects a broader commitment to community development and gender equality, demonstrating how targeted programs can make a meaningful difference in underdeveloped areas.

Gurpurab Celebration; DC attends congregation at Gurdwara Chatti Padshahi

STATE TIMES NEWS

RAJOURI: Deputy Commissioner Rajouri, Abhishek Sharma paid obeisance at Gurdwara Chatti Padshahi and joined celebrations of Gurupurab, the birth anniversary of Guru Nanak Dev Ji.

The occasion was marked by spiritual fervor, devotion, and a message of universal brotherhood and peace.

The Deputy Commissioner was welcomed by the Gurdwara Management Committee and members of the Sikh community.

Accompanied by district officials, he participated in the prayers and offered his respects at the holy shrine.

Addressing the gathering, Abhishek Sharma highlighted the teachings of Guru Nanak Dev Ji, emphasizing his philosophy of equality, compassion and service to humanity. "Guru Nanak Dev Ji's message of 'Sarbat da Bhala' (welfare of all) holds timeless relevance and inspires us to foster harmony and unity in society," he said.

He also acknowledged the significant contributions to the socio-economic and cultural fabric of the district and appreciated their commitment to upholding the values of service and selflessness.

The Deputy Commissioner interacted with devotees and inspected the arrangements made for the convenience of the visitors. He lauded the efforts of the district administration, police, and the Gurdwara committee in ensuring smooth conduct of the celebrations.

Special security and traffic arrangements were in place to manage the large influx of devotees at the Gurdwara. Langars (community kitchens) were organized to provide meals to attendees, reflecting the spirit of sharing and inclusivity.

The celebrations at Gurdwara Chatti Padshahi included kirtans, discourses on Guru Nanak Dev Ji's life and teachings, and community services. Devotees expressed gratitude to the district administration for their support in organizing the event.

Prominent members of the civil society and representatives from different religious and social organizations also participated in the event, reaffirming the district's commitment to secularism and mutual respect among communities. The Deputy Commissioner extended warm greetings to the Sikh community and all residents of Rajouri on the auspicious occasion. He urged the people to imbibe the teachings of Guru Nanak Dev Ji in their daily lives and work collectively for the progress and prosperity of the district.
