■ STATE TIMES NEWS
JAMMU: The Centre for Women's Studies, University of Jammu, organized a workshop at Government Higher Secondary School, Ghou Manhasan, Jammu, to mark the International Day for the Elimination of Violence against Women on November 24. The event aimed at spreading awareness among young students about gender sensitivity and the legal safeguards available to combat violence against women.

Nayyar, Director of the Centre for Women's Studies. Speaking on the theme "Legal Safeguards regarding Violence against Women," she explained the different forms of violence faced by women and young girls in society. Prof. Nayyar highlighted key legal provisions such as the POSH Act, Child Marriage Restraint Act, Dowry Prohibition Act, Domestic Violence Act, and POCSO Act, emphasizing how these laws offer protection and avenues for justice. She also discussed the conceptual distinction between sex and gender, underlining how gender roles are socially constructed and reinforced through cultural practices. Prof. Nayyar stressed that education plays a crucial role in shaping the values, life skills, and attitudes of young individuals. She encouraged students to cultivate confidence, creativity, and respect for others regardless of gender. She reiterated that awareness and open dialogue are essential tools for fostering gender equality and preventing violence. Workshops like this, she added, help build a more sensitive and informed society. Kuldeep, Senior Lecturer at the host school, praised the initiative of the Centre for Women's Studies. He underlined the importance of introducing gender sensitivity at an early age, as students are future leaders who must understand and challenge gender biases to create an equitable social environment. He also expressed hope for future collaborations on gender-related issues. The workshop witnessed enthusiastic participation from teachers, office staff, and students, many of whom shared personal insights and experiences. The session was coordinated by Dr. Saranjit Kaur, along with Diksha Sharma, Academic Mentor from Bharti Airtel Foundation.
