100 new Sainik schools to provide opportunity to girl students to join armed forces: Rajnath

■ STATE TIMES NEWS

NEW DELHI: The government's decision to set up 100 new Sainik schools will provide an opportunity for girl students to join the armed forces and contribute to national security, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh said on Saturday.

In an address at an online conference, Singh said the government is for increasing the role of women in the armed forces and a series of steps have been taken in that direction, including clearing the way for their admission in Sainik schools and providing permanent commission to women officers.

The defence minister excluded confidence that the decision to establish new Sainik schools will encourage girls to realise their dreams of serving the country. Singh suggested that the department of defence and Sainik School Society should devise a mechanism for ranking all Sainik schools on the basis of their performance and audit. This, he said, will lead to healthy competition among the schools, besides providing encouragement to introduce innovative steps.

He said, along with the curriculum, children should be exposed to patriotism and loyalty towards the nation as it will help in building their character and benefit the country.

The defence minister described the announcement of the expansion of Sainik schools as one of the many important decisions taken by the government in the last six-seven years to improve the quality of basic education of children and ensure the holistic development of the country. "The setting up of 100 new Sainik schools will provide an opportunity to girls to join the armed forces and contribute to national security," Singh said.

In October, the Union Cabinet approved the affiliation of 100 schools from the academic year 2022-23 in government and private sectors with Sainik School Society under the Ministry of Defence. Singh stated that while 'Sainik' signifies unity, discipline and devotion, 'School' is the centre of education, therefore, Sainik schools are playing a pivotal role in making children capable citizens.

Singh said the government is focussing on providing quality education to the youth of the country as it lays a solid foundation for the all-round development of the society.

ing measures, vaccination drives and other steps taken by the J&K administration for making J&K tourism safer and more attractive to international travellers and tourists.

In a series of B2B meetings, the Tourism Secretary enumerated the initiatives taken by the Tourism Department to further broaden the spectrum of tourism products in J&K. He specifically mentioned projection of 75 lesser known and off-beat destinations, giving more push to adventure activities like trekking, skiing, rafting etc. and making a combo of cuisine, heritage and culture for retaining varied categories of tourists.

Sarmad Hafeez during separate meetings with J&K's diaspora impressed upon them to promote the uniqueness of the Union Territory among the local communities there and play their role in promoting tourism to J&K within Gulf and Middle East regions. He said nature has bestowed Jammu & Kashmir with immense potential which needs to be exploited fully for the welfare and prosperity of its people.

Director, Tourism, Jammu, Vivekanand Rai and Director, Tourism, Kashmir, Dr. G N Ito accompanied Tourism Secretary during the meetings.

The meetings were part of activities of Dubai Expo 2020. During the Expo several agreements pertaining to infrastructure, real estate, tourism and hospitality were signed.
