tion has consistently fought for farmers' rights, and as a result of its struggles in 1986, 1990 and 1996, the government was forced to compensate farmers for losses due to heavy rains and hailstorms. He expressed concern over rising input costs, low market prices for farm produce, lack of profitable marketing, growing unemployment among farmers' children, monkey and swine menace in kandi and hilly areas, and neglect of irrigation facilities.

Dr. Satnam Singh Ajnala spoke on farmers' struggles at the national level and criticised the Central Government for failing to ensure Minimum Support Price (MSP) for farmers' produce. Several leaders including Bansi Lal Sharma, Rashpal Singh, Raj Kumar, Nirmal Bali, Aditya Hans, Mulak Raj Sharma and Ram Pal Khajuria also addressed the gathering.

The Convention passed several resolutions demanding immediate relief for flood-affected farmers, restoration of damaged infrastructure, and assured profitable prices with MSP. It called for job-oriented schemes for farmers' children in agriculture and allied sectors, strict action against monkey and swine menace, and protection of agricultural land from diversion. The Sabha also demanded proper irrigation facilities, stopping illegal mining of nallas and khads, and ensuring fair compensation and employment to farmers whose land is acquired.

The Convention urged the government to provide quality seeds and fertilizers at reasonable rates and in time, ensuring a secure and sustainable future for farmers.
