

DYSS organises maiden Capacity Building Program for District Publicity Coordinators

STATE TIMES NEWS
JAMMU : The Directorate of Youth Services & Sports (DYSS) J&K organized its maiden capacity building program for District Publicity Coordinators (DPCs) and Additional District Publicity Coordinators (ADPCs). The two-day training equipped participants with critical modern skills in drone technology, digital storytelling and strategic communication, marking a transformative step for sports and youth engagement in the Union Territory. Director General YS&S Anuradha Gupta, who spearheaded the initiative, emphasized the program's significance. "In today's digital age, effective publicity is the cornerstone of public engagement. By mastering storytelling through contemporary tools, we do not merely report events we inspire communities, celebrate youth achievements and amplify the impact of government initiatives," she stated. She further added, "The training is a direct stride towards realizing the vision outlined in the sports policy of the J&K Government, which mandates the use of information technology to the public. The policy underscores that publicity and media play an important role in the popularization and promotion of sports among the masses. It states that efforts shall be made to ensure proper media coverage of important sports tournaments and that adequate publicity is required to achieve these objectives". Dy Director Activities Megha Baogia expressed her satisfaction with the training. "This hands-on program provided practical training across essential domains. Participants received instruction in drafting press notes and official communications, operating drones for aerial event coverage and enhancing photography for visual storytelling. The curriculum also included building skills in social media management, digital outreach and creating impactful presentations for reports and proposals," she said. The Media & Publicity Coordinator at the Directorate, Azhar Hajinj, described the training as a pivotal development. "Under the visionary leadership of Director General Anuradha Gupta, this program empowers our teams to become effective communicators. It marks a decisive shift towards greater professionalism and excellence in our outreach, directly supporting our mandate to disseminate information effectively as per the government's policy," he stated. The training sessions were conducted by a panel of expert resource persons, including Senior Journalist and IMCSD Managing Director/CEO Vikas Sharma; accredited Senior Journalist from Punjab Kesari Vicky Verma; Head of Department for IT at GCW

Udhampur Dr. Vishal Sharma; and photography, videography and drone experts Pankaj Gupta and Mohit Sharma. DG YSS and Deputy Director Activities/ Planning who distributed participation certificates among the trainees.
