Strict law should be made against religious conversion by incentive: Varinder Jeet

■ STATE TIMES NEWS

JAMMU: Chairman of National Sikh Front, Varinder Jeet Singh has welcomed the decision of Supreme Court in which they have said that a person will not receive any Govt benefit of his previous caste when he is converted to a new religion.

He said that Sikh religion has always helped the needy persons but they never try to force their religion or say to adopt their religion forcefully.

Sikhs have always helped humanity not only in India but worldwide and examples are given by everyone.

Supreme Court has also given the example of Sikh community that they never force any person to convert to sikhism and they do help people of every religion without expecting anything in return. Whosoever does this is wrong and state governments should have a check on these things and should punish the culprits.

Supreme Court has said that it is a serious matter and they have already said this in the past.

One should have faith in his own religion but giving someone benefits and inducing them to convert to their religion is wrong.

Varinder Jeet said that a law should be made to curb these forcefull and money induced conversions so that this problem can be dealt with as a national problem.

Centre Govt has to understand that a law has to be made at Central level so that this problem can be curbed.
