

REMEMBRANCE

S. MOHAN SINGH
(Ten Years Since We Lost You)

Ten years have passed, yet your absence still speaks louder than time. You lived quietly, but your life carried weight—measured not in words, but in character, restraint, and grace. Without seeking recognition, you earned respect; without authority, you commanded regard.

You taught us that dignity needs no display, that strength lies in humility, and that a life lived honestly becomes its own legacy. Your memory remains a silent guide, shaping our thoughts and reminding us of what truly matters.

With folded hands, we remember you today and pray for eternal peace for your departed soul.
