the Central Pollution Control Board, state pollution control board, nominee of Secretary Irrigation, J-K and District Magistrate, Rajouri.
"The Committee may consider the reports already furnished and if found necessary, undertake a visit to the site and interact with stakeholders. Justice Kotwal may fix his own honorarium to be paid by the State PCB. The registry may forward a copy of the entire record to Justice JR Kotwal to enable the entire matter to be looked into. The report may be filed within three months by email," the bench said.
The tribunal was hearing a plea filed by village head Arti Sharma against operation of stone crushers in violation of environmental norms in Rajouri district.
The plea said stone crushers are located close to residential areas and Tawi river and illegal borewells have been dug for extraction of ground water.
"Requisite environmental clearance has not been taken. Illegal mining is also done on the bank of Tawi river, using heavy machinery. Air pollution is caused by using vehicles for transportation. This is resulting in lowering of the water level, water scarcity, decreasing agriculture productivity," the plea said.

If harmed, India...

India and China have held 15 rounds of military talks so far to resolve the eastern Ladakh standoff. As a result of the talks, the two sides completed the disengagement process last year in the north and south banks of the Pangong lake and in the Gogra area.
Without making any direct reference to the American pressure with respect to Russia because of the Ukraine war, Singh said India does not believe in a zero-sum game diplomacy.
If India has a good relationship with one country, it does not mean that its relationship with any other country will deteriorate, he said. India has never adopted this kind of diplomacy. India will never opt for this (kind of diplomacy). We don't believe in the zero-sum game in international relationships, he said.
India, he said, believes in having a bilateral relationship which is based on win-win for both the countries.
His remarks came amidst some disquiet in Washington over India's position on the Ukraine crisis as well as its decision to procure discounted Russian oil.
The image of India has changed. The prestige of India has improved. In the next few years, no power in the world can stop India from becoming the world's top three economies, Singh said.
In his address to the Indian community, Singh said that in the past, if any country in the world wanted to develop and prosper, they always thought about establishing a vibrant trade with India.
We should aim at establishing a similar ecosystem in India by the time we celebrate our 100th independence Day in 2047, he said.
The defence minister said that during his last trip to the US in 2013, at a reception in New Jersey he had told a group of Indian Americans that "the success story of India is not over; it is waiting for the BJP to come into power. At that time, people were disappointed with the performance of the then Congress government."
In eight years, he said, the Modi government has "turned around" the country and the image of India has changed for the better.
(Globally) people have now realised that India is no longer a weak country. It is a powerful country of the world. Today India has the potential to lead the world. This potential of India is something that the world has now realised, he said.
Nothing else could be a grand achievement for a country like India in such a short span, he said.
"There have been several prime ministers in India who became the leader of the country after they occupied this post. But like Pt Jawahar Lal Nehru, the first prime minister of India, Atal Bihari Vajpayee and Narendra Modi were the country's leaders even before they became the prime minister," he said.
Today we have a new and confident Bharat, he said, adding that India is now headed towards becoming a self-reliant country and the Modi government is taking several important steps in this regard, including in the defence sector, he said.
India has taken several key steps towards indigenisation of its defence sector, he said as he briefly described some of such decisions being taken by the government.
Observing that India has a lot of faith and confidence in the country's IT sector, the defence minister said that Indian talents are playing a major role in the world's IT sector and the Modi government has taken steps towards massive digitisation.
India today, he said, is marching ahead to become an economic power and the government is not only working towards the welfare and prosperity of its people, but also helping people in other parts of the world as well.

India is now among the world's fastest growing economies. Our economy did suffer a setback due to the pandemic. But now we are having a fast recovery, he said.

Regularisation of services...

law. While relying upon judgment of the Supreme Court laid down in case titled Anurag Kumar Singh vs State of Uttarakhand (2016)9 SCC 426, this Court has held that courts cannot give any direction contrary to the Statute or Rules made there under in exercise of judicial discretion. Taking cue from the judgment of the Apex Court Supra, it is held therein that where there is one lawful option, the discretion does not exist as the discretion assumes the freedom to choose among several lawful alternatives.
DB further observed that contention of R A Jan, senior counsel, that a right has accrued to the respondents for claiming regularization on the basis of the recommendations of the Standing Labour Committee is not well founded as the Standing Labour Committee recommendation cannot be a substitute for the Policy in the shape of Rule or law governing such regularization. DB said that the contention having no substance, merits rejection and held that the regularization of services could be recognized under a particular Rule/ Policy of the Government and not otherwise. There is absolutely no scope for two opinions over it. With these observations, DB allowed the petition and set-aside the impugned order and in consequence whereof the OA filed by the respondents is also dismissed. It goes without saying that nothing observed in this judgment shall prevent the petitioners from considering the case of the respondents in terms of the policy presently in operation notified in terms of Circular dated 5th September, 2019, which provides for a mechanism for their permanent absorption in the department. The eligibility criteria, in such, eventually, shall not form an impediment for the authorities to take a view favorable to the respondents.

deficient. They must be made aware that there is no need to migrate because enough water and fodder is now available in Kutch. This migration also deprives their children of studies. This pains me a lot," said the PM.

Vengeance with which...

"The vengeance with which the BJP is bulldozing India's Constitution has now reached the homes of minorities. "BJP leaders are outdoing each other in stripping Muslims of everything, be it their homes, livelihood and dignity," Mufti said in a series of tweets.
The former Jammu and Kashmir chief minister said the "silence" of the majority community was "deeply worrying".
"As Kashmiri Muslims, we are often accused of being silent spectators while Kashmiri Pandits were forced to flee.
"But the criminal silence of the majority community in today's India while the BJP wrecks the very idea of India is deeply worrying and problematic," Mufti added.
