Empowering Cultural Identity: Bani youth advocate for Phari ST Status

Youth of Bani during a campaign for ST status.

■ STATE TIMES NEWS

BANI: The youth of Bani have spoken resoundingly on the fundamental issue of Pahari Scheduled Tribe (ST) status, aligning their demand with the cultural and linguistic heritage shared by the community. In the wake of the recent declaration of ST status to Rajouri and Poonch based on their Pahari identity, the people of Bani have fervently called for similar recognition, citing their cultural affinity and linguistic ties to the Phadi language.

The intensifying momentum surrounding the issue underscores the growing sentiment among the populace, particularly in Bani, where the demand for Pahadi ST status has gained significant traction. Residents are dismayed by government reports suggesting an absence of Phadi-speaking population in Kathua district, perceiving it as a grave injustice that neglects their cultural identity and heritage.

In light of this, the community has issued a fervent appeal to the administration, urging them to acknowledge the Phadi language and culture as integral components of their identity. Furthermore, they have called upon all political parties and their leaders to heed their plea, emphasizing that their support will be contingent upon a firm commitment to securing ST status for the Phadi-speaking populace.

"The youth of Bani stand united in our demand for recognition of our cultural and linguistic heritage," stated a spokesperson for the community. "We implore the administration to rectify the oversight regarding the Phadi-speaking population in Kathua district and extend the rightful acknowledgment to our community."

The sentiment resonating among the youth of Bani reflects a broader aspiration for equitable representation and recognition of cultural diversity within the region. Their unwavering resolve underscores the imperative for inclusive policies that uphold the rights and dignity of all communities.
