SHRADHANJALI

Neelam Di.....I will miss you lot as I have lost my biggest Fan in you..

Meeting you always made me feel another level of affection.. Di, your absence will be felt always as we have no home at Sunderbani now. Neelam Di's home---the main point linked with our all types of visits to Siot side.

Because of my over busy schedule, though I visited your place only a couple of times in last 22 years of my association with you, yet your affection always made me to understand that you are my Elder Sister and not Monica's.

In 1999, when I met you for the first time, I told Monica that this lady has a distinct personality. She proudly said," This is our Neelam Di, the eldest of all our sisters.... whenever we visited her place in vacations every year she used to pamper us a lot besides being a disciplinarian. Monica told me sharing her childhood moments at Sunderbani.

Very presentable, always neatly dressed, Neelam Di, we have lost an intelligent elder in you. I recollect your way of describing and introducing me to everyone. Really, I have lost a Fan in you.

Having faced biggest catastrophes in life, when I was told, I was literally shocked to find you raising you kids lonely, bravely with full enthusiasm and with smile on your face.

I recall your supportive phone calls to me especially during my parents illness and their demise. Di, last month only I received a Facebook friendship request from you. And, that made me overwhelmed to accept it.

In last two years, I missed all most all the marriage functions that took place in Sunderbani and so I missed many chances to meet you as well.

Neelam Di, you always gave me love and respect to the fullest. You happily and bravely fought with life and also last few days of your illness. May your soul rest in peace...

And, May God give courage to all of us especially to Vishal and Vicky to bear this irreparable loss.

Pranam @VIVEKSHARMA

Smt. Neelam Bakshi
