Poem —— Love Sans Trust

Love sans trust is like flower without fragrance
You trust someone blindly
And your beloved maintains the trust
With all the commitments

Trust gives wings to fly
And you fly with love and glee
Trust makes the love veritable
Love sans trust is nothing

Mere wastage of time

Often when you have full trust on someone
You forget the power of using your discretion
Significantly important,
When you break the trust
Love disappears automatically.

Poem —— SHOWCASE IS NOT SHOW-OFF

Showcase your talent,
Don't say you are worthless having no talent.
To find your talent only you got birth,
To explore your capabilities successfully is the real worth.

Don't say showcasing is show-off without trying so,
It's important to display your abilities in order to get acknowledgement to grow.
To show what you are and what you have is just to mark your presence,
If you will hide it, you will neither be remembered nor you will get an essence.

If you are present in class room but during attendance not saying present,
Even though you are present, you will be marked as absent.

Don't hide it to schedule and show later,
No body can say if you will be alive later.
Don't die with a talent that is hidden,
Showcase before your death will make it forbidden.

To exhibit yourself, No body can help you as better as self-help.
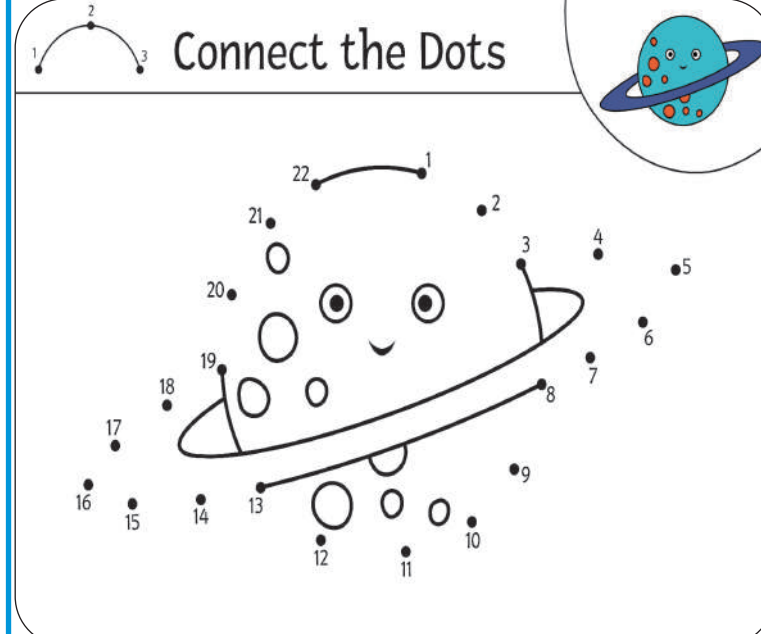

Sahaj Sabharwal.

Graphic Designing

Graphic Design is the process of visual communication which combines words, images and ideas to present the information to the audience. Graphic Design in simple words, deals with aesthetically creating visual designs with the aid of computer to convey a message to the viewers. In other words, Graphic Design is an artistic and professional discipline that focuses on visual communication and presentation toward the goal of delivering a message or creating a product. Graphic design is a part of marketing campaign that involves visual communication. Graphic design attempt to transmit specific messages by means of appropriate visual material. These messages may be aimed at projecting a certain image of an organisation, transmitting information or promoting a service or product.

Graphic designers or graphic artists plan, analyze, and create visual solutions to communication problems. Graphic designer is a person in the graphic arts who puts together art, text, and other visuals to produce professional printed results. Graphic designers influence how we view the world using colors, illustrations, photos and fonts. A graphic designer creates the graphics primarily for published, printed or electronic media. Graphic designers develop the layout and production design of newspapers, magazines, corporate reports, journals and other publications. They also design the logos, packaging and promotional material that give companies and their products a distinctive identity. Graphic designers find out what their client or organization is trying to say and who their target audience is and they are able to effectively communicate that through graphic arts.
