JAMMU: While commemorating the universal message of 'Yoga for humanity' on International Day of Yoga, Dr. Sushil Sharma stressed that there is a greater need for inculcating better health practices through yoga.

At a health camp organized by Dr. Sushil and his team at Brij Nagar, Miran Sahib, Dr. Sushil enumerated the various benefits that are associated with the practice of yoga.

He specifically highlighted the role of yoga in maintaining cardiovascular health. One of yoga's clearest benefits to the heart is its ability to relax the body and mind.

Emotional stress can cause a cascade of physical effects, including the release of hormones, which narrow our arteries and increase blood pressure. The deep breathing and mental focus of yoga can offset this stress. Worry and depression commonly follow a cardiac event, such as a heart attack, bypass surgery or diagnosis of heart disease. As part of an overall treatment plan, yoga can help us manage this stress, he added.
