Ashok Koul reviews 11-year celebration programmes, upcoming events

■ STATE TIMES NEWS
KISHTWAR: Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) Jammu & Kashmir General Secretary (Organization), Ashok Koul convened an important meeting of the BJP District Kishtwar unit to take stock of the ongoing programmes being held as part of the nation-wide celebrations marking 11 years of Prime Minister Narendra Modi-led government. The meeting, held at the party office in Kishtwar, witnessed the presence of prominent BJP leaders and functionaries from across the district. Ashok Koul, while addressing the gathering, lauded the dedicated efforts of the Kishtwar unit in ensuring the successful execution of programmes under the "Seva, Sushasan, aur Garib Kalyan ke 11 Saal" campaign. He emphasized the importance of connecting with the grassroots to communicate the monumental achievements and transformative initiatives undertaken by the Modi government over the past decade. "Every year under PM Modi's leadership has been a testament to decisive governance, inclusive development, and unwavering service to the poorest of the poor. From abrogation of Article 370 to Ayushman Bharat and PM Awas Yojana, people have witnessed real change in their lives," said Ashok Koul. He further directed the party cadre to actively prepare for two significant upcoming events - the Punyatithi of Dr. Shyama

Prasad Mookherjee on June 23, and the observance of Black Day on June 25 to denounce the imposition of the Emergency by the Congress government in 1975. "The sacrifice of Dr. Mookherjee must be remembered with utmost respect and commitment to his ideals. His vision for a united India was realized through the removal of Article 370. Equally, we must educate the youth about the dark days of Emergency when democracy was strangled under Congress rule," Koul added. Shagun Parihar, MLA from Kishtwar, also addressed the gathering and reiterated the commitment of the local leadership to strengthen the party at the booth level. "Kishtwar has seen development under BJP's governance, and it is our duty to communicate that effectively. We are fully geared for upcoming programmes and outreach initiatives," she said. District President Ravi Parihar highlighted the district's active participation in all national-level programmes. "From Viksit

Bharat Sankalp Yatras to social service campaigns, Kishtwar BJP karyakartas have worked tirelessly to carry forward the Prime Minister's vision. We are ready to observe Dr. Mookherjee's Punyatithi with full reverence and mark Emergency Day as a symbol of our commitment to democracy," he stated. Tariq Hussain Keen, State Secretary BJP, praised the unity and energy of the Kishtwar team. "Kishtwar BJP has become a strong and disciplined unit. Our strength lies in our grassroots connect and tireless commitment to organizational goals. Let us continue to work with the same zeal in the days to come," he asserted. Gajay Singh Rana, Prabhari Kishtwar, along with senior leaders including Chuni Lal Shah, Pardeep Parihar, Braj Mohan Sharma, Capt. Hukam Chand, Akshay Sharma, and many other dedicated Karyakartas, were present in the meeting and actively participated in the deliberations.

BCCI allows 2nd bone test, modifies AVP: Brig Gupta

■ STATE TIMES NEWS
JAMMU: In a significant decision, the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) has modified the Age Verification Procedure (AVP), practised to curb age-fudging in junior cricket. Starting this year, the BCCI will permit a second bone test for players whose 'bone age' exceeds the threshold - 16 years for boys and 15 years for girls. This was informed by Brig Anil Gupta, Member Administration JKCA in a press statement issued here on Saturday. "The decision was taken by the BCCI at its recent Apex Council meeting. Until now, the BCCI has been conducting bone tests for boys in the 14-16 age group. As per the prevailing practice, once a player's bone age is determined, one year is added to it. This adjusted figure - referred also as 'mathematical age' - is treated as the official age for eligibility in the BCCI age-group competitions. For instance, if Player X's bone age is assessed as 14.8 years, the BCCI adds one year, making it 15.8," the statement said. "Since that still places the player under 16, he is deemed eligible to participate in the Under-16 age-group competitions for that particular year. In the following year, the player should automatically be ineligible for the Under-16 category. However, under the new AVP guidelines, if the player is still under 16 as per his birth certificate, he will be allowed a second bone test," the statement added. The statement further said "If the repeat test shows the age under 16, he will be permitted to continue playing in that age group. Girls in the 12-15 age group are also subject to the same process - an initial bone test followed by a repeat test, if necessary. "This second test is, understandably, in view of the general perception that bone tests may not be entirely accurate. It can also be seen as a tacit acknowledgement that the procedure, however scientific it is, has its limitations. The second, rather the repeat test, was approved by the Apex Council last week," the statement further added. Normally, the bone test is conducted through an X-ray. These tests are carried out before the start of every domestic season, typically in the months of July and August. During this period, state associations are allotted specific windows, and a BCCI representative visits each state when the tests are done. On an average, around 40-50 boys and 20-25 girls appear for the tests in each state, which are conducted at an affiliated hospital. A new method of cheating was uncovered by BCCI and state associations in recent years. In an attempt to avoid detection, some parents were reportedly sending younger ones to undergo the tests in place of the actual players. However, this impersonation tactic was identified by both the BCCI and the state associations. To prevent such manipulation, the BCCI representatives now insist on a valid Aadhaar document carrying the players' latest photographs before allowing them to undergo the tests.
