J&KHEA criticizes advance EMI deductions

STATE TIMES NEWS
SRINAGAR: The Jammu & Kashmir Handicraft Employees Association has voiced strong opposition to J&K Bank's recent move to deduct advance EMIs from the accounts of salaried employees, citing significant financial strain and lack of transparency.

In a statement issued today, Subhaib Munshi, President of the J&K Handicraft Employees Association and the Kashmir Provincial President of the National Movement for Old Pension Scheme (NMOPS), expressed deep concern over the bank's action, which he says has led to "confusion, distress, and overdrafts" in the accounts of unsuspecting employees. "Several government employees were shocked to find their accounts overdrawn due to advance EMI deductions without proper communication," said Munshi. "We understand the importance of maintaining a good credit score, but this arbitrary and sudden deduction has disrupted household budgets and caused unnecessary anxiety."

Munshi emphasized that any such financial move should be preceded by clear communication and consent from account holders. "It is only fair that employees are informed in advance and allowed to choose repayment options that align with their financial capacity."

He further urged the bank to adopt a more flexible and humane approach, such as EMI cycle adjustments or structured repayment plans, which would meet institutional goals without compromising the financial stability of customers.

The association has called on J&K Bank and relevant authorities to urgently review the current policy and ensure employee welfare remains a central factor in all decisions impacting their livelihoods.
