Jug Jugg Jeeyo

Director: Raj Mehta
Cast: Varun Dhawan, Kiara Advani, Anil Kapoor, Neetu Singh, Manish Paul

STORY: When estranged couple Kuku and Naina come to India from Canada, hoping to break the news of their impending divorce after the big fat desi wedding in the house, little do they know that there is an even bigger shocker, waiting for them back home.

REVIEW: Anil Kapoor is the absolute life of the party here. The actor is in top form as the loud and colourful family patriarch Bheem. The role is tailor-made for him as he makes you root for him despite all his eccentricities. Varun Dhawan exercises commendable restraint in an all-out family drama that uses comedic respite to come out of every difficult situation. Kiara Advani looks stunning in every frame and pulls off a fine performance. Neetu Kapoor is extremely endearing and likeable and fits the role beautifully. In the second half, when her character gets to lead from the front, she is in her element. gets a second season, perhaps the show will delve deeper into each character, making it a more compelling drama to watch.YouTuber Prajakta Koli makes a confident debut, but has a lot of room for improvement in the expressions department.

While most of the jokes in ‘Jugjugg Jeeyo’ land pretty well, there’s background score to push you to laugh, in case some don’t. The film’s music is catchy with songs like ‘nach punjaban’ already becoming a rage. This family drama starts off well and ends even better.

BOOK REVIEW

Sing, Dance and Pray'

Title: 'Sing, Dance and Pray'
Author: Hindol Sengupta
Publisher: Penguin Ananda
Pages: 368
Price: 495 INR

Review: Sing, Dance and Pray', by author and biographer Hindol Sengupta, is an inspirational story of International Society for Krishna Consciousness (ISKCON) founder Srila Prabhupada, who emerged as a major figure of Western counterculture, introducing ancient teachings of Vedic India to mainstream America in the mid 20th century.

The teachings of Srila Prabhupada attracted everyone from writer-poet Allen Ginsberg to The Beatles' lead guitarist George Harrison — and millions of followers in over 100 countries. Furthermore, Prabhupada's story is not just about religious history, but also about a critical moment of East-West interaction. His story is an incredible piece of history, a turning point in the story of India, a moment when the efforts of a single man changed, in many ways, global opinion about India and Hinduism.

For the unacquainted, ISKCON's core beliefs are based on Hindu scriptures, particularly the Bhagavad Gita and the Bhagavata Purana. ISKCON was formed to spread the practice of Bhakti yoga, the practice of the love of God in which those involved (bhaktas) dedicate their thoughts and actions towards pleasing Krishna, whom they consider the Supreme Lord.

The story of Srila Prabhupada is bound to put one on a path of self-realization. Do give it a read.

Innovative hacks to cut down the cost of interior décor

People who are homeowners are continually trying new things and different methods of doing things. They prefer to shake things up a little and think outside the box of what we've seen on TV and in publications. Most homeowners begin their interior design journey with the preconceived notion that if they truly desire something, it must be pricey. However, when it comes to interior design, effective design is about being inventive rather than ostentatious. An experienced interior designer will also understand how to save on interior design costs without sacrificing the quality of their work. Using the colour scheme in various fabrics, furniture, or wall hangings may create a one-of-a-kind design while keeping the added space constant. A splash of colour or a piece of art, as well as an area rug or toss cushions, may help to enliven any space and provide a focal point.

Here are some ways in detail on how to cut down on the cost of interior décor Raghunanadan Saraf, Founder and CEO of a luxury furniture brand:

Restoring and repurposing vintage furniture -

Remodel your house using your old furniture rather than buying new furniture, which may be expensive. Reusing and refinishing antique furniture is a highly cost-effective way to decorate your home.

You may add a touch of elegance to your old furniture by repainting it and utilising vibrant and colourful upholstery, making your home's interiors seem as good as new. When you refurbish your furniture, make sure it's easy to keep. Cleaning is also necessary because your carpets, walls, and upholstery are all comprised of natural materials.

Instead of painting, use wallpaper -

As we all know, paint is a popular pick for interior design, but it can also burn a hole in your budget. Texture paint is fairly expensive; however, wallpaper is a far superior option or alternative to paint because it provides the same aesthetic treat at a much lower cost. You can use a light blue wallpaper that matches the light and neutral tones of the room. Using a more muted colour scheme, we can achieve a similar effect to wallpaper but without the extra cost. This is an area where wallpaper can be a better option.

Multi-functional furniture –

Choosing furniture that maximises your limited area will suffice. Picking a multipurpose object for each area may add a wonderful touch to the surroundings. As the name implies, they are one-of-a-kind and modern modular furniture designs with at least two qualities.

A Sofa Day Bed

A well-sized daybed is the ideal two-in-one item for rapidly transforming any room into an area for sitting and sleeping. By bringing in a daybed that serves as a sofa, you can effortlessly transform any den, spare room, or basement living area into a combined guest room design. You may also utilize a daybed for work by bringing up a C-table for your laptop—and who can resist working from a sofa that also serves as a bed?

A Console Desk

For many of us, working from home has required us to carve out home offices once and for all. One stylish and space-saving solution we came upon is using a console table as a desk. Because consoles tend to be narrow, they're perfect for small spaces and easy to pull up along a wall in any room—think a hallway, in front of a window, behind a sofa. If what you're looking for is a simple surface for you to set up your laptop, a console desk is definitely the way to go!

Plants and basic lighting for interior design decorating -

Plants improve our health while also making our surroundings more pleasant and bright. It's becoming increasingly popular, and if you're low on room, go for little plants distributed around the home. Place pots on tables in the living room and bases in the dining room to improve the interior design of your home or apartment.

When shopping, we should always consider basic light fixtures that will not only brighten up your house but will also be cost-effective. LED lighting is said to be exceptionally long-lasting and energy-efficient. When compared to other types, it is thought to be eco-friendly and pocket-friendly. It will not only brighten up your home but also be cost-effective.
