आज़ादी का अमृत महोत्सव

It gives me immense pleasure to extend my best wishes to all the senior citizens on the occasion of National Senior Citizens day. On this day we take the opportunity to acknowledge the contribution made by elderly people in our lives and in our society.

The day is celebrated to express gratitude to all the elderly persons who have shaped our lives and have made rich contribution to the society through their experiences and mature guidance. Our senior citizens are our support and source of inspiration and we must ensure that they live a healthy, long and a dignified life.

There has been a steady rise in the population of senior citizens in India. This has happened due to better health care facilities. Now the effort must be towards making them live a happy, healthy and a secure life with dignity. The Government is committed to improve their quality of life and has initiated various schemes for their welfare.

The celebration of the day also brings to light the various challenges that senior citizens face and which need to be addressed with appropriate legal safeguards.

Today, on this day, we must reinforce our gratitude towards our elders for their constant support and patience guardianship and recommit ourselves to our duties towards their care and well being.

On the occasion of National Senior Citizens day, on 21st of August, I extend my warm greetings to all the Senior Citizens. The day is celebrated to acknowledge their contributions to the society that have impacted our lives for the better.

Senior citizens are our strength and we value their wisdom which is a source of inspiration for all of us. The knowledge and wisdom acquired through years of experience by them need be passed on to the younger generations. They stood by us when we needed them the most and now is the time to reciprocate. The intergeneration gap needs to be bridged to improve the quality of their lives.

The Government, through the department of Social Welfare, has started several schemes dedicated catering to needs of senior citizens. There are legal safeguards available for their rights. I t is my appeal to the Senior Citizens to be aware of their rights and lake benefit of the welfare schemes. Besides, the concept of active aging needs to be promoted.

Today on the National Senior Citizens Day, let's resolve to be grateful to them and make their lives better with emotional support, respect and care.

MESSAGE

Every year 21st of August is celebrated as National Senior Citizens Day to express gratitude to all the elders in our society.

The world is slowly moving towards an older people dominated demography. The life span is increasing due to better health care facilities. Average life expectancy that is 70 years today is likely to go beyond 80 years by 2050. The scenario calls for urgent action by various stakeholders including Government, society and elders themselves.

The Government has undertaken various social security measures including medical, physical and public friendly utility service delivery infrastructure.

Society at large is required to ensure happy and respectful family environment. Elder people physically and mentally fit should actively engage themselves to ward off negative emotions and try to give back to society through social work to the extent possible.

Let us all resolve to ensure a healthy, fruitful and happy life to our elders as a gratitude to their immense contribution to family and society at large in their active and productive years.

My greetings to the senior citizens on the National Senior Citizens Day!
