Over 200 doctors set out to hold 105 camps across Jammu border

■ STATE TIMES NEWS

JAMMU: Over 200 doctors from different parts of the country would organise over 100 medical-cum-Covid awareness camps during a five-day programme, starting Saturday, in border areas of the Jammu region, an official spokesperson said.

Jammu Divisional Commissioner Raghav Langer flagged off the 'Rishi Kashyap Swasthya Seva Yatra' organised by the National Medicos Organisation (NMO), the spokesperson said.

During the five-day campaign from September 18 to 22, the teams would organise a total of 105 medical-cum-Covid awareness camps in the border and remote areas of the Jammu region from Poonch to Kathua.

The main objective of the camps is to provide health services to the border residents at their doorsteps. In the camps, the locals will be provided with free medicines, free blood sugar and BP check-ups besides awareness on COVID-19 and the prevention of a possible 3rd wave, the spokesman said.

The NMO is a leading pan-India organisation of qualified doctors and medical students, functioning throughout the country.

It has been organising health camps in J&K for the last seven years under Rishi Kashyap Swasthya Seva Yatra, a unique and one of its kinds of an event aiming at connecting with people of far-off areas and providing medical services at their doorsteps, the spokesman said.

The divisional commissioner appreciated the efforts of the MNO and others who have organised these camps in rural and border areas of Jammu and Kashmir to solve the basic health issues of people at their doorsteps and in bridging the gaps by creating awareness general public about the prevention of various diseases and their treatment.

He especially recognised the efforts of doctors from various states for providing their free and selfless services to the people of Jammu and Kashmir.

460 youth from J&K, Ladakh join elite JAKLI regiment

■ STATE TIMES NEWS

JAMMU: A total of 460 well-trained recruits on Saturday joined the army here as young soldiers after a successful attestation parade at Jammu and Kashmir Light Infantry (JAKLI) centre, a defence spokesperson said.

However, due to the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic, the ceremony was conducted without the parents of the recruits following all the norms and advisors.

The attestation parade of recruit course serial number 126, depicting graduation of a recruit and his transformation into a young soldier, was reviewed by Commandant Officers Training Academy, Chennai and Colonel of JAKLI regiment Lt Gen M K Das at recruitment training camp Dansal, the spokesperson said.

He said the dauntless young soldiers of the regiment hailing from all regions and religions of Jammu and Kashmir, and Ladakh, marching in precise unison with a singular aim of devoting their lives in service of the nation, singing their regimental song 'Balidanam Veer Lakshmanam', inspired one and all as their voice echoed in the entire region.

Their salute to the tricolour with national anthem playing inspired patriotic fervour amongst all present during the parade, the spokesperson said. Lt Gen Das congratulated the young soldiers for their immaculate parade and impressed upon selfless service towards the nation.

He praised their contribution towards encouraging more and more youth from Jammu and Kashmir to come forward to join the security forces and also highlighted the vital role played by their parents in motivating their wards to join this noble profession.

The young soldiers who excelled themselves in varied facets of training were also felicitated by Lt Gen Das.

Recruit Peer Sartaj Ahmed Wani was awarded the Sher-e-Kashmir Sword of Honour and Triveni Singh Medal for being adjudged 'Overall Best Recruit', while recruit Amandeep Singh Chib was awarded the Chewang Rinchen Medal for being 'Best in Firing'.

Recruit Parmeet Sharma was awarded the Maqbool Sherwani Medal for being 'Best in Physical Training' and Recruit Mohd Asad was awarded the Bana Singh Medal for being 'Best in Drill', the spokesperson said.

BSF saves life of villager near IB in Jammu

■ STATE TIMES NEWS

JAMMU: The Border Security Force (BSF) on Saturday saved the life of a villager who was bitten by a poisonous snake near the International Border (IB) here, officials said.

Sami Chaudhary and Subhash Kumar, both residents of Bega village, were cutting grass in a field near Khatnaria border post when the cries of Chaudhary attracted the attention of the BSF guards manning a post nearby, the officials said. They said the BSF personnel immediately rushed to the scene and found that Chaudhary was bitten by a poisonous snake.

The villager was given first aid and shifted to a local hospital where his condition is stated to be stable , the officials said, adding the locals appreciated the timely action of the troops in saving a precious life.

KPs stage protest in Jammu over delay in relief payment

■ STATE TIMES NEWS

JAMMU: Hundreds of Kashmiri Pandits staged a protest demonstration here on Saturday against a delay in the payment of monthly relief and their attempt to block the Jammu-Srinagar national highway was thwarted by police, officials said.

The protesters came out from the Jagti migrant camp on the outskirts of the city and started marching towards the nearby highway, raising slogans in support of their demand for immediate release of relief payment for the month of August, the officials said. They said the police stopped the protesters from marching towards the highway and persuaded them to disperse. The protesters threatened to intensify their agitation if their monthly relief was not immediately released.

"The relief for the month of August was not released by the relief commission till date, causing hardships to the displaced community," a spokesman of the Kashmiri Pandit Relief Holders Association said.

He said this was for the first time in the past three decades that there was a delay in the release of monthly relief to the community.

"We appeal to Lt Governor Manoj Sinha to look into the issue and ensure early release of the payment, the spokesman said.
