Sita-Ashok. As the participants tied the Rakhis, they also made a commitment to safeguard and preserve nature and its resources, acknowledging the urgency of addressing climate change for a healthier future. While tying the Rakhi to a temperate plant-Chinar tree presently growing in the Botanical garden, Prof. Veenu Kaul, Head of the Department of Botany, expressed her enthusiasm towards the safeguard of plants and wished for luxuriant growth of the species in the Botanical Garden. She briefed the students that many societal festivals inherently connect humanity with nature. The sustenance of life on our planet is owed to plants, which serve as the fundamental well-spring of essentials, therefore, their significance should be acknowledged throughout our journey of life.

Further, Dr. Harish Chander Dutt emphasized upon the traditional activities of tribal people in sustainable use of forest resources.

He also stressed upon the recent discovery of plant sensors which help them in sensing different positive and negative energies from the surroundings and their respective responses. Among those in attendance were Dr. Geeta, Dr. Skarma, Dr. Romica, Dr. Sapna, Dr. Sajjan Thakur, Nitian along with research scholars, MSc students, non-teaching staff, and the gardening team of the Department.

the festive day of Raksha Bandhan. The situation has taken a grave turn as two more members, Paramveer Singh and Mohan Singh, were referred to GMC Jammu due to deteriorating health conditions. They are now under medical treatment at GMC Jammu.Vikram Singh, who visited the agitation site in Samba alongside fellow YRS members, urged unity among the people and a collective fight for their rights.

The hunger strike, led by President Vikram Singh, is supported by YRS Ex-President Surinder Singh Gilli, State Secretary Udayveer Singh, Ajay Singh, Joint Secretary Pardeep Singh, and Ashish Singh, who are all participating from the Bantalab YRS office.

Gilli emphasized the strike would persist until the Sarore Toll Plaza suspension demand is met.YRS Spokesperson Vishal Singh, addressing the media, expressed concerns about the central government's response to the people's sentiments. He noted that the administration's failure to address the demands of the people of Jammu might disrupt the peaceful climate.

Furthermore, given the present scenario, Vishal Singh suggested that the vote bank of the Dogra community could be impacted, potentially causing a significant loss for the BJP in the upcoming elections.As the YRS members stand resolute in their hunger strike, the local atmosphere remains charged with a growing anticipation for the resolution of this pressing issue.
