BJP can provide corruption-free, progressive dispensation: Kavinder

Senior BJP leader Kavinder Gupta speaking at the meeting at Dausa city in Rajasthan.

STATE TIMES NEWS
RAJASTHAN: Senior BJP leader and former deputy Chief Minister J&K, Kavinder Gupta on Tuesday accused the Congress Government in Rajasthan of being involved in rampant corruption and making this scourge a new norm. He also hit out at the Ashok Gehlot government alleging it has failed on all fronts including law and order.

Speaking at the meeting at Dausa city in Rajasthan, the BJP leader from J&K said that the Congress government did not fulfill its promises made to people especially on women's safety, farmers' loan waiver and unemployment.

He said that take any sector or service for which the state government under Congress party is responsible, people without any exception will tell the truth about total collapse of the dispensation. He said that people had not voted Ashok Gehlot for this disastrous model of governance rather they had expected justice and efficient administration to bail out population from problems and necessities' dearth.

He urged the people not to fall prey to Congress' trap yet again but it is time to support BJP, which has zero tolerance against corruption as it has proved this in all the States where it is in power and above all in Centre, where corruption has become the thing of the past. He said people should join hands with BJP to lead to a change in Rajasthan after decimating Congress for its number of misdeeds undermining the power of electorate.

He said that people in the State are fed up of the misrule of incumbents and there is no doubt in the fact that the BJP will form government with a thumping majority after polls.

"Only BJP can provide corruption-free and progressive dispensation with a promise of prolific policies and plans for the people", he maintained.

Women status socially invisible in country due to gendered roles: HoD Hindi

STATE TIMES NEWS
JAMMU: The Centre for Women's Studies, University of Jammu organized 3rd workshop under ongoing series for the students and scholars of the department of Hindi on Tuesday.

Dr. Shalhu Seghal, Faculty, Department of Economics, University of Jammu was the resource person. The workshop began with the welcome address by Prof Rajni Bala Head, Department of Hindi who spoke about the importance of such workshops, which are much required especially for the students to not only understand about the challenges that women face rather to understand the society as a whole. Further, she said that the status of the women in India has been socially invisible due to gendered roles, there is a social control on women and there is no decision making power in the hands of women which leads to hurdles to women's mobility, access to choices, and social restrictions in every sphere of women's life.

She also stressed on the important role of the family and parents in generating gender sensitivity among the children irrespective of gender. Dr Shalhu Seghal, the key resource person for the workshop, spoke about the relevance of Gender sensitization workshops especially for the students and scholars and said that it is important to acknowledge each other as human being first, and not just by any gender.

She also gave the reference of Amartya Sen's idea of development that each and every human being has a certain potential and their development lies in their environment which should be supportive and encouraging.

While explaining the gender gaps she gave reference of the data on Female Feticide, Malnourishment, Domestic Violence, Unpaid Work wherein the disparities that exist are because of the social justifications and biasness towards women that are there in the society from time immemorial.

Dr Seghal also explained about how the contribution of one gender is quantified due to which the work done by the women is not acknowledged as they are unpaid care workers/farm workers. While concluding she engaged all the participants in an activity to hold a hand and say "I belong to you" to symbolize that we all are one and need each-other's help to uplift each other. Further Prof. Vishav Raksha Director, Centre for Women's Studies in her remarks explained the motive behind the conduct of such workshops. She said that we all should acknowledge the differences that exist in the society and stressed that the differences should not be the cause of disparities in the society.

While interacting she mentioned that along with brotherhood we need sisterhood as well wherein we can uplift each other in every field of our life, and the choices and opportunities are accessible to every individual irrespective of gender.
